

QNET Presents:

The People Side of a Lean Organization

Friday, September 23 – 7:30 to 9:00 a.m.

Your processes are ready to go lean, but are your people? Successful implementation of your “lean initiative” hinges on whether the people in your organization will embrace change or simply refuse it. This session gives an overview of the issues to consider and ideas for thoughtful planning to incorporate the people aspect into your lean initiative.

Presenter: Graham Moore, Manufacturing Manager, Transcontinental LGM Graphics is a professional engineer with a degree in production engineering and a background in industrial engineering. He has over 20 years management experience in a broad range of industries holding various management positions from President and CEO of a small sheet metal fabrication company to a variety of senior management positions with larger companies such as Ford New Holland, Boeing and Dixon Bayco.

Graham has initiated the move to Lean Thinking in several companies and was a founding member of Manitoba’s first lean consortium, The Manitoba Consortium for Manufacturing Excellence. He is also active in the development and presentation of the Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters Lean Manufacturing Certificate Program and their Advanced Manufacturing Initiative.
