Accountability from the Inside Out When done well, accountability can lead to positive growth and development, better results and a culture of great performance. As leaders, we need to “lead self” in order to successfully lead others. This accountability for our own work, behaviour and results leads the way for our teams. At this fireside chat session, you will hear and discuss different aspects of accountability and “leading self,” explore the concept of kind curiosity, and leave with ideas that you can take back to your workplace to create or enhance your own accountability framework. -Brenda Badiuk, President and Chief Operating Officer, Seven Oaks General Hospital -Michelle Brunette, Employer Return to work Program Specialist, WCB Manitoba -Moderator: Chris Downey, Leadership and Organizational Development Professional	Where Relationships Matter Most Join us to find out how Sunova Credit Union expanded, evolved, and found ways to distinguish themselves from the competition – and meet some of their most recognizable (and funniest!) ‘distinguishing factors’. After successfully looking outside of the box, the team recently shifted their focus ‘inside the box’ to the core of the company - their people and their relationships with members and clients, potential new customers, and each other. Learn how they created a culture code, foster accountability, removed barriers, and provide staff with control of their outcomes and work. If you are looking to shake things up and distinguish yourself, you won’t want to miss this session! -Leanna Beasant, VP and Chief Financial Officer, Sunova -Cheryl Mitchell, Director, Facilities & Business Development, Sunova -Cyndi Typliski, Managing Partner, Selkirk Branch, Sunova	The Solutions Room Strategize the tough stuff at this interactive and energizing breakout session led by our team of expert facilitators. You will have the opportunity to participate in four solutions-focused table discussions on timely workplace topics. -Josh Bileski, IG Wealth Management: Where is Everyone? Driving Engagement -Shannon Gander, Life Work Wellness: Fry No More: Resilience Strategies -Maureen Grace, Hamilton Grace & Associates: Mobbing... here?... me? -Jehna Grobety, Delta 9 Cannabis: Cannabis Myths & Facts -Joyce Odidison, Interpersonal Wellness Services Inc.: What’s Your Personal Reputation Worth? -Eric Stutzman, ACHIEVE Centre for Leadership & Workplace Performance: Transforming Negativity	Map It Out! Research shows that drawing and visual tools can help improve your memory. The practice of mind mapping has been used for decades to organize information in a visual way. Join us for a fun and engaging session where you will have the chance to learn and practice various mind-mapping techniques as a unique way of learning, reviewing and retaining content. Share ideas and experiences with other participants then apply your new skills in a practical and timely way by mind mapping Cy Wakeman’s morning keynote presentation. -Susan Popiel, HR Consultant, Learning Initiatives, WCB of Manitoba
